Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Over the last century, Americans have experienced unprecedented advances in health care. Average life expectancy has increased by nearly 30 years, and as a nation, we are enjoying healthier and more productive lives. We are moving closer every day in our quest to find new treatments and cures for diseases that affect millions of Americans. Much of this progress is due to the advances that have emerged from our investments in health care research. These investments have led to a strong foundation of scientific evidence that has been accumulated over time from many sources. These include basic science carried out in laboratories, clinical trials underway in hospitals and other health care settings, and health services research that is conducted by investigators in both clinical and nonclinical settings. As a result, the health care we receive today may be the most technologically sophisticated and highest quality care in the world. However, as we move ahead in this new century, it has become apparent that the care known to be effective is not always the care we receive. Indeed, all...
